13 Lose Lives on Maine Road in September

Thirteen persons were killed in eleven accidents on Maine's streets and highways during the month of September. Last year seventeen died in motor vehicle crashes in the same month.

Although Maine has improved upon its 1953 record with 101 road deaths for the first nine months of 1954 as compared with 122 for the same period last year, the record shows that we have exactly the same number of traffic fatalities as for a similar period of 1952.

Traffic victims during the month included: six drivers, three passengers and four pedestrians.

These figures compare the first nine months of this year with the same period of 1953.

1953 1954 Chg.
Total persons killed 122 101 -21
Total fatal accidents 107 91 -16
Total pedes. killed 30 23 -07
Personal injury accid. 1106 1221 +115
Persons injured 1814 1883 +69
Prop. damage accid. 2718 2806 +88

This is the time of year when all of us who drive should be especially conscious of night traffic hazards. We must realize that, more and more, we shall be driving after dark and that darkness means added danger. Obviously, we must change our summertime driving habits to fit the change in driving conditions. It is well to remember that, usually, one-third of our total annual traffic deaths occur in the last quarter of the year. Now, more than ever, all of us should remember that "Night Doubles Traffic Troubles."

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

We have recently received and unloaded a carload of salt. By buying direct from the distributor in a carload lot the price was of course favorable, as well as giving us the advantage of having a good supply on hand for winter use.

It is interesting to note that the first 32 hours of operation of the power grader required 35 gallons of Diesel oil, a cost slightly less than 15 cents per gallon.

MILLS - SWAN

On Saturday evening, October 9, at a candlelight ceremony, Loraine Swan, daughter of Mrs. Celestine Swan, Bethel, and Charles Swan, Fryeburg, was united in marriage with John A. Mills, son of Verne B. Mills, Greenwood, and the late Ethel Grover Mills, with Rev. Charles Pendleton officiating.

Gowned in a street length dress of ivory floored organza, and flange veil, the bride carried her great-grandfather's Bible covered with white satin and gladioli. Her attendants, gowned in blue and pink respectively, were the Misses Mary and Carolyn Mills, sisters of the groom. The best man was Roy Silver, Augusta, cousin of the groom.

Following the double-ring ceremony, a reception was held with Carol Flint, cousin of the bride, serving refreshments of wedding cake and punch, assisted by Mrs. Roy Silver and Mrs. Clayton Mills.

The couple are now at home at their apartment on Main Street after a short wedding trip.

MERRILL - HOYT

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoyt of Hanover was the scene of a very pretty wedding October 13 at 2 p. m., when their daughter, Helen Han, became the bride of George Everett Merrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Merrill of Bethel. The double ring service was performed by Rev. Robert Carter, also of Bethel.

The ceremony took place around an indoor rose garden in the presence of relatives and close friends. Miss Hoyt, who was given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a ballerina length, white, rayon net gown over satin with a fitted bodice of taffeta ribbonette. Her fingertip length nylon veil was held in place by rhinestones. She carried a bridal bouquet of red carnations.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Phyllis Blake, a sister of the groom, wore navy blue taffeta with white angora trim and carried a colonial bouquet of asters, ferns, and gladioli.

The bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Hulbert, a schoolmate of the bride, wore turquoise blue taffeta with pearl and rhinestone trim and carried a colonial bouquet of gladioli, asters and poms.

The flower girl, Catherine Merrill, a niece of the groom, wore lace-trimmed, light blue organza and carried a small, white basket of fall flowers.

The ring bearer, Cheryl Merrill, sister of the flower girl, wore a matching dress and carried the rings on a small, white satin pillow.

Attending the bridegroom was Richard Blake, Jr., brother-in-law, as best man.

The bride's mother wore a teal blue dress with silver stripes and a corsage of yellow poms. The bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue and her corsage was rose-colored asters.

Following the ceremony, refreshments of wedding cake, sandwiches, punch and assorted cakes were served.

The guest book was in charge of Miss Beverly Soper, of Bethel, and the gift table was presided over by Mrs. Doris Goding of Dixfield, who also played the wedding march.

The young couple left shortly after the ceremony for a honeymoon trip into Canada, the bride traveling in a peacock blue and black ensemble consisting of a peacock blue, and black dress.

A car belonging to Ray Langway of New York was destroyed by fire near Mr. Langway's cottage in Albany. The loss was reported covered by insurance.

Christmas Parcels Overseas Deadline Set at Nov. 15

The period October 15 to November 15 has again been designated for the acceptance of Christmas parcels for members of our Armed Forces serving outside the continental United States. It is expected that many Christmas parcels will be sent this year by persons in this country to persons serving overseas and these dates have been fixed with the view of assuring delivery of gift parcels on time and in good condition.

Parcels for Navy and Marine Corps personnel serving in the most remote areas should be mailed at once. Parcels for such personnel known to be in an area which would permit mailing after October 15 may be deposited later during the period named.

Boxes should contain sufficient cushioning material so that the contents will be tightly packed to prevent any rattling or loosening of the articles within the parcels. Unless completely packed and tightly filled, boxes are likely to be crushed.

Each box should be securely tied with strong cord preferably by four separate pieces, two lengthwise and two crosswise, knotted at crossing. Sealing the flaps with gummed tape where they meet strengthens the box, but the use of such tape alone is not satisfactory, since tape loosens if the box becomes wet or exposed to the moist atmosphere. Sealed parcels of third or fourth class must be marked: "Contents, merchandise." May be opened for postal inspection.

For further information consult your post office.

"GARD'S BABIES" INCLUDED IN PLANS FOR TESTIMONIAL AT LEWISTON NOVEMBER 10

Dr. Gard Twaddle, who has delivered 7000 Central Maine babies during his 33 years of service in Lewiston, will be honored by his associates, patients, and "Gard's Babies" at a testimonial to be held at the Lewiston Armory at 7 p. m. on November 10. It has been announced by George Davis of Auburn, committee chairman.

"Gard Twaddle has been an outstanding doctor and an outstanding human being. You can scarcely meet a person in Central Maine who hasn't a story to tell about some selfless act, some deed of kindness, that Gard has performed. We think it's about time his thousands of friends had a chance to do something for Gard," stated Mr. Davis.

Parents of babies delivered by Dr. Twaddle are being urged to send photos of the children to Information Desk, Central Maine General Hospital. The pictures will be part of a giant display to be erected at the Armory November 10th. The committee has stated that all pictures will be returned if the name and address are placed on the back.

As a special honor to Dr. Twaddle a group of Lewiston and Auburn citizens have banded together to set up the Gard Twaddle Nurses' Endowment Fund to help one of Dr. Twaddle's favorite charities: aid to needy student nurses. Contributions are tax-deductible and may be sent to the fund in care of Stephen Trafton, Chairman, Manufacturers National Bank, Lewiston.

Dr. Twaddle has been a member of the hospital staff since 1916, immediately after graduation from Bowdoin Medical School.

MRS. ANDREWS DELEGATE TO WASHINGTON MEETING

Members in every Extension group in the county have participated this past year in a plan to raise the necessary funds, by selling the Queen Cake recipe to send an outstanding leader to this National Conference.

Mrs. Barbara Ellingwood of North Rumford, secretary and treasurer of the women's division reported that $90 had been realized from this source.

Each community had the opportunity of choosing one of their members to represent their group. The names of these applicants were sent into County headquarters and three judges from outside the county chose the one to attend.

Mrs. Iona Andrews, a leader of been very active in local church, outstanding ability and vision, has been very active in local church, PTA, grange, 4-H, and Extension work. Plan Halloween Activities Here Next Week

The Bazaar Committee met at the Legion Rooms Friday night to complete plans for the Halloween party.

It was reported that the party, which will be for the 4th graders and up in age, will be held at Crescent Park School on Saturday, Oct. 30th, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Bethel Lions Club is sponsoring a window painting contest, in charge of Dr. John Trivard, assisted by the school teachers and others.

Committees for the party: Refreshments—Virginia Cole, Harriett Noyes, Elsie Waldron, Abbie Brown; Games—Emily and Addison Saunders, Florice and Louis Paul, Rachel and Blake MacKay; Prizes—Mrs. Abbie Brown; Supervision—Chairman—Pat Grenier; Cleanup—Charles Helms, Frank Nary, Bob Morton, Edgar Darby and others.

Prizes will be given for the most horrible, most original and funniest costumes. There will be games for all with prizes for the lucky ones refreshments aplenty.

It is sincerely hoped that the window painting contest and this party will afford the boys and girls good, clean wholesome entertainment so that they will not feel the urge to wax or soap windows, ring door bells, etc., as they usually occupy themselves on Halloween. Let's all turn out to really entertain the boys and girls and give them an evening of fun.

The Bethel Lions Club is planning a window painting contest to be run in conjunction with the Bazaar Committee's Children's Halloween Party.

During the next week contests will be held in Grades four through eight to determine the contestants. At present the plans call for three students from each room to compete. First and second prizes will be awarded for two different age groups.

It is hoped that supplies will be sufficient to allow a few Gould students to display their artistic talents.

Window painting has proved very successful in other communities at Halloween. Many of them have been on a much larger scale than Bethel's will be this year, but due to lack of funds and time for preparation the local Lions have decided to start with a small group and plan to expand next year.

This point is easily applied and easily removed. No paintings will be started before the 23rd and the paint will be mixed and dispensed at a place to be designated.

For further details see the next issue of the Citizen.

CITIZEN READERS OFFER SUGGESTIONS; CRITICISMS

A return of more than 65 per cent of the questionnaires mailed last week to Citizen subscribers is most encouraging. The opinions and criticisms offered, together with preferences indicated as to features and community news, should result in a newspaper more pleasing to our readers.

The method of distributing the questions, by mailing to alternate names on the list, of course may have misled many interested readers. Their opinions and suggestions will be welcomed slight changes in content and makeup are shown this week. Please remember that the weekly appearance of this newspaper in a form pleasing to most of its readers depends upon cooperation of its readers and producers.

Dr. Boynton will be out of town October 25 and 26

The 10 Commandments of Safety

- 1 Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of gun safety.
- 2 Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded, and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
- 3 Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.
- 4 Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.
- 5 Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.
- 6 Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.
- 7 Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately beyond reach of children and careless adults.
- 8 Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
- 9 Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; when at target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate.
- 10 Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

CONGRESSIONAL

Q-Is there a fixed limit to the length of a session of Congress?
A-The Constitution, as amended, provides that each regular session of the Congress shall begin on Jan. 3, unless "the Congress shall by law appoint a different day." The Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 requires Congress to adjourn not later than the last day in July, except in time of war or national emergency. In practice, a Congress hardly can find succeeding Congresses in such a manner-In 1933, for example, Congress adjourned early August 4, to meet if convened Jan. 6, having set back the date by special resolution.

Q-How many Members from each House serve on a conference committee which attempts to iron out legislation passed by both House and Senate but is otherwise lost?
A-There are no set rules for the appointment of conferees. The number varies but each House usually names an odd number, giving the majority party control. The presiding officer of each chamber appoints members of the committee concerned with the proposed legislation, usually after consultation with, and at the suggestion of the committee chairman.

Q-How many have been discharged from the armed services because of questionable loyalty or for security reasons?
A-A total of 565 officers and men were discharged for those reasons since May, 1945, according to March 23 testimony by Pentagon officials before the Senate Armed Services Committee. The percentage of loyalty discharges to total strength: the various services was given as Air-1,000 per cent; Army-2,000 per cent; Navy-about 2,000 per cent.

SUNDAY RIVER

— Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres. —

Not animals this week but water. The rain from the hurricane Hazel sure did visit this neighborhood and while some slept it filled up the brooks and rivers, fields and all until many of us were in the center of small lakes when it came light so we could see it took out Sunday River and Bull branch bridges at Ketchikan several small culverts in the road down to the letter "S" turn. In the road there it took out a small bridge and a long section of the road. It undermined and caused to fall into the river a bank and part of the road near the J. E. Chapman farm. It skipped a small strip until just below the R. M. Fleet residence where both the river and brook came in taking the tared surface and the new piece just built this fall clear to the large base rocks in most places and covered the

Read Matthew 6:12-13.
Seek not ye what ye shall eat,
or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind... But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you. (Luke 12:29, 31).

ONE rainy night, I went to the Bible class as usual. We talked about the love of God and faith. We had a group of very interested and faithful children from seven to thirteen years of age in our class.

After the class was over, I addressed a little boy, whose home was very far from school. "Do you have any friends to go home with?"
He said "No, but I can no longer stand here because God is always with me. He is the one who is light to me in the dark." He is a very strong, bright and com-

rage because he believes in God.
It made me very happy to hear that from such a little boy and I prayed for him.

The heavenly Father is with us always, whenever and wherever we go. If we really believe in Him and have strong faith, our hearts will be full of hope, peace, and joy.

Prayer
Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the light of Thy love that leads us into the right way. Help those who live in darkness to admit Thee into their lives. Give them a strong faith in Christ. Strengthen us and help us for Thy work. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

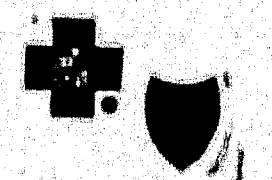

David, Calif., Enterprise: "One
of the most moving tributes ever paid to this great country of ours came recently from a German-born, naturalized American who left his estate of $70,000 to the government of the United States. The reason for the gift was that 'my wife and I are so much indebted for the blessings we have enjoyed as citizens of this country.' How much do those of us who have always lived here appreciate the blessings we enjoy?"

Boston, Mass., Quincy Patriot
Ledge: "We may uncompromisingly believe that freedom and democracy will ultimately win the world
struggle, but we would be foolish indeed to assume that this will hold true if we allow unity to be supplanted by dissension, understanding to be destroyed by suspicious animosity, and cooperation and compromise to fall victim to rigidity
and insistence on conformity among nations."

Lewistown, Pa., Sentinel: "... any government with strongly centralized power poses a threat to personal liberty. Each time we taken another step toward socialism, government control and higher taxes in our own country, we should pause and think what life offers for the individual in countries where power is vested in the state and government bureaucracy
has been over expanded."

GOULD ACADEMY

PINTOS HERE SATURDAY

Mexico High's undefeated and highly touted eleven will be at Gould Saturday. This will be another rugged battle for the Huskies as the visitors have both power and speed. The Bethel eleven is also undefeated although they have played only three games. The much improved play in the Lyndon game last Saturday gives promise of a real thrill for local fans. Coach Scott's men came out of last week's game in good condition with only Joe Watson receiving an aggravation to a previously injured ankle.
Gould's big job will be to stop the speedy Pinto veteran, Joe Blanchard, who has been running wild against all opposition. The experts will probably pick Mexico but it should be a close one.

GOULD WINS THRILLER
ON PARENTS' DAY

Gould Academy won a thrilling
parent victory over Lyndon Institute by coming from behind in the last period to win 14-13. This leaves the Lyndon-Gould series even again
with each team winning three times and two ties. Neither team has yet won a game on the opponents
home field.

Lyndon scored first after Gould was forced to punt when they could not gain after receiving the opening kick-off. They started on their own 43-yard line and marched 57 yards to score. Passing played a big part in their drive as they connected for 20 yards and 7 yards before Goodwin finally passed to Wilkie on the goal line for 10
yards and the first touchdown.
Wendall Bragg crashed through to block the point after, which eventually proved the margin of victory.

The Lyndon kick-off went to Burnham on the 20-yard line and he carried to the 43 yard line. The Huskies never relinquished the ball as they made three first downs in a row and finally Burnham carried over from the one foot line.
A Rowe to Daley pass and a 26
yard sprint by Roberts helped set up the first score for Gould Academy. Rowe placed kicked the extra point and the home team led 7-0.

Early in the second period Lyndon drove deep into Gould territory but lost the ball on downs short of the goal line. Rowe punted to their 45 yard line but with Goodwin and Manley doing the brunt of the offensive work to Manley on the 10 yard line and he raced over for a 14 yard touchdown. Manley plunged through the line for the extra point and Lyndon led at half time 13-7.

In the third period Gould received the kick-off and moved down to the 12-yard line where the visitors stopped them. Lyndon receded off two first downs but that was all as they were forced to kick. Rowe returned the kick to his own 46-yard line. From here
Murphy, Burnham, Roberts, and Rowe began pounding away until Gould was threatening on the 11-yard line. Here on fourth down Rowe, on a deceptive play, scampered around his own right end,
over the coveled last eleven yards to pay dirt. With the score tied 13-13 Rowe made a perfect placement for the extra point when 14-13.

It was a bitterly fought game
between two evenly matched teams.
The visitors racked up 14 first downs to Gould's 12. Much of their offensive power was in the air.
Goodwin, their lefthanded passer,
was especially accurate as Lyndon completed 10 out of 13 passes or 95 yards. The Huskies seemed to be in better condition as they outlasted the visitors in the last half. Their pass defense stiffened as they run up 8 first downs to 3 after the intermission. Burnham was the workhorse of the second half but the other three backfield men gave good account of themselves. Murphy came through with some nice timely gains. Defensively
Bush, Bragg and Verne Corkum looked especially good.

HARRIERS DEFEAT PORTLAND

The Gould Academy cross country team defeated Portland High School 24-24 in a meet run over the 2.6 mile Gould course last Thursday afternoon. Matt Budzko of Portland was the winner in 13:21
seconds, closely followed by John Chase of Gould.

JVS WIN

In a game enjoyed by only a small number of spectators the Gould JV's defeated Bridgton High's understudies 7-0. It was a wild affair as on two occasions the visitors scored touchdowns only to lose them because of holding and clipping. Gould also lost a touchdown because they had twelve men on the field. The Bridgton touchdown came in the first period and was spectacular in that it was an off tackle play that went 93 yards for the first score. They failed to rush the extra point. Gould tied it up in the last period and then scored the winning point on a successful rush for the extra point.

A good part of the game was an excellent illustration of "What Not To Do" as the inexperienced players on both sides made many mistakes.

X-COUNTRY TEAM WINS

The Gould Academy Cross Country Team chalked up another victory on Tuesday by defeating the Stephens High harriers of Rum-ford 23-33. John Chase of the Huskies won individual honors. He was timed in 14:29 for the 2.9 mile course. Robinson who placed second was the first runner to finish
for Stephens.

Rev. Robert H. Harper
Goldenrod for Family Living
Lenten for October 24: Proverbs 1:
1-6, 20-25, 19: 13-16, 31: 10-12.
Goldenrod for Proverbs 6: 20.

In Athens a man was primarily regarded as a citizen and in Rome
as a soldier but in ancient Israel
he was honored as a father. Certainly in the Bible we learn that a father was laid upon the family and that it was honored and protected as very important. In our lives today we have several pa-
thers gathered from the Proverbs, dealing with the relationships and responsibilities of the home.

First situation is given to parents. This is in the natural order, both in time and importance. However, the chief of the lesson is the son to the home and the admonitions are addressed to him.
A kind father recalls his own home of the years gone and he connects the son to walk in the same way that the father had been taught.
Keeping the commandments of his father and forsaking not the law of his mother, a son will be delivered from the manifold temptations that assail the young. That is, if the parents are good persons. In many and instances, invincible delinquency is due to parents' delinquency.

The lesson closes with the three-hundred-year-old picture of a faithful wife and a loving mother found in the last chapter of Proverbs. May God give us more mothers who, in our time, are like that mother of old.

Philadelphia Eagles Coming Club in National Pro League

The start of a new football dynasty. That according to many of the wise boys, the story of the Philadelphia Eagles, the latest and loudest noise in the National League, The Sporting News reports.

Spirit, ability, confidence and determination led them to eight successive triumphs through October 10 (five exhibition victories and three season conquests).

Paul Brown, "cutie" coach of the Browns, said after the Eagles had whipped his men in the initial game of the season, "The Eagles look like the new champions. They should breeze through to 12 straight triumphs." Brown no doubt had more than admiration for the Eagles in his mind when he made that statement. Paul in a psychologist of the best grade and he might have had hopes that the Eagles would develop complacency after his statement so that he could sneak in the back door.

But so far his psychology has not worked against the all-around power of the Eagles.

It is impossible to put the finger on one department or one man as the reason for their success—unless it is Jim Trimble, their coach. Trimble has played a big part in the development of what Ed Stanky, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has called one of the "intangibles" of success—SPIRIT.

Spirit is hard to define. Like Topsy, it just "grows" in the Eagles. It is the reason why Ken Farragut, brilliant center from Mississippi, left a $15,000 job as general manager of a storm window concern to return to the Eagles for approximately half that sum after he had announced his retirement.

If you ask an individual if he knows what a stop sign means, he'll probably answer "Yes." However, you must observe his driving to be sure he really knows, our State Police tell us. Most drivers realize that a stop sign requires a full stop...at all times. On the other hand, there are some drivers who think that slowing down at a stop sign is sufficient. These drivers have found themselves involved in unexpected accidents time after time. Do you always come to a full stop at these signs? If you don't, you are breaking the law and asking for real trouble.

At the University of Maine, all students in home economics take courses in child development and family life. All basic courses in home economics are centered around a girl's interest in preparing for family life and child care.

Protect your passengers—and the grillwork on your car—by maintaining a safe distance between your car and the car ahead, advise our State Police. "Following too closely" is a leading cause of traffic accidents, which makes it a very unwise practice. Keep your distance! Don't be a "bumper-hider!"

Let You Choose The Right Point For The Way YOU Write

No other fountain pen at ANY price can match your way of writing so exactly as an Esterbrook. From the world's largest selection of point styles you choose precisely the right point for the way you write... the right point for the writing you do.

Get tough!
That's the advice of increasing numbers of persons who are working to reduce traffic accidents. "Get tough on driver licensing procedures..." "Get tough on law enforcement..." "Get tough on penalties for violations..." "Get tough on drunken drivers..." "Get tough on teen-age speed demons..." "Get tough on defective vehicles..." "Get tough on traffic safety 'engineering'..." are typical comments of citizens reported by Edmond C. Powers of Cleveland.

Powers' summary of growing public opinion is as follows: "If we are determined to reduce traffic slaughter, we should be as tough in dealing with the situation as we would be in resisting an invasion or any other agent of destruction."

"35,000 deaths, more than a million injured people, and an economic loss of nearly $4 billion every year is a crime of the worst order."

"Strictly-enforced measures never won a war and in terms of death and destruction, traffic accidents are the costliest conflict in our history."

"Driver education in our schools, group meetings and discussions, traffic safety organizations, public appeals through press, radio and television, all serve a useful purpose."

"But until we drive home the real seriousness of the accident problem by direct disciplinary measures, we have little hope of reducing accidents to any great extent."

"These disciplinary measures should include revocation of licenses by habitually thoughtless and incompetent drivers, ridding our streets and thoroughfares of unsafe vehicles, refusal to issue licenses to the mentally and physically unfit, and application of our best thought to the engineering of safety into our existing and new thoroughfares."

"We all bow down to a tough policy on the part of authorities at all levels of traffic administration and regulation."

"Until this tough policy goes into action, we are just begging the question of how to reduce accidents."

THE CITIZEN OFFICE

It is the reason why Dominic Moselle, Jim Dowda and Roy Barni, castoffs from the Packers, Redskins and Cardinals, respectively, have become keys in the Eagles' attack and defense.

It is one of the explanations why Jerry Williams, who was nothing more than an ordinary defense man for the Los Angeles Rams for four years, has become one of the Birds' leading offensive threats.

It is the only answer to why big Chuck Bednarik, stolid all-league center of the Birds, danced with joy like a youngster when he recovered a fumble late in the Pittsburgh game which assured the Eagles of a thrilling 24 to 22 comeback triumph.

What brought about this fine spirit? It is not possible to pinpoint a mode of action to develop it. Big Trimble is the main figure, The Sporting News declares.

He hit the nail on the head a few days ago when he said of his men, "They are still boys, with boyish emotions, playing a man's game."

Trimble is a stickler for the players receiving prompt and expert attention after they have been injured. In fact, he has been known to order a player off the practice field simply because the athlete failed to have his injuries treated by Trainer Frank Wiehe.

It would be silly to say that Trimble mothers his men as a chicken does her brood. But it is a fact that they go to Trimble with all their troubles.

He is never too busy to sit down and discuss things with his men. He goes as far as finding suitable housing for them, baby sitters for their youngsters and has helped more than one solve his financial difficulties.

His care of his players before the important Pittsburgh contest was only a small matter, but it is the small things that endear Trimble to the Eagles.

Players are always on their own as far as meals are concerned when they are at home. They pay for their meals out of their own pocketbooks. But on the day of the Pittsburgh contest at Connie Mack Stadium Trimble invited them to the hotel and they ate on the house the rest of the day.

He is a strict coach who believes success lies in attention to detail, but he does not regiment his men as does Paul Brown. The Eagles practice only in the morning. They report at 9:30 and are finished at 11:45. Everything goes by clock work. Before the week begins they know their entire program for the next six days.

Trimble is a stickler for clean living, but not a fanatic by any means. A year ago he dropped one of the finest backs from the squad because his conduct wasn't all that Trimble felt it should be.

"One rotten apple can ruin a whole bushel," he said. The men respect him for this, because his own life is exemplary.

Like all good coaches, Trimble is a psychologist. This season in "spring" training he adopted one slogan, "Beat Cleveland." His men saw it wherever they turned—and they beat Cleveland. Now they hope to beat Cleveland out of the Eastern flag, The Sporting News says.

Congress Wonders if Individual Americans Would Support Strong Indochina Policy Which Risks War

By WALTER SHED
Washington Correspondent,
National Weekly Newspaper Service
(This is the last of four articles on Indochina and the Far East.)

WILL individual Americans support a strong policy in Indochina and in southeast Asia which might risk a shooting war?

It was under the belief that they would not support such a policy that some congressional leaders in this administration refused to back up Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the policy he advocated: either united action or massive retaliation. Particularly was this true this year with a congressional election coming up in November. Whether this is a true appraisal of the thinking of the American people or not, has no place in this article. The fact remains that on this assumption, true or false, the United States elected to bow in deference to its two principal allies, Britain and France, at Geneva. Further, the belief that the American people were sick of war and would no longer support the Korean conflict, led to the almost frantic peace at any price settlement in Korea.

And so it remains to be seen whether or not, as Mr. Dulles predicts, failure to follow a resolute policy now, will result in greater war danger within a few years.

And so without accomplishing real peace, the American taxpayer will go on spending his tax money in both Indochina and Korea, in Japan, in Formosa . . . to maintain the huge military and naval bases we have extending from Alaska and the Aleutian Islands down through Japan, Korea, Formosa, Okinawa, the Philippines and other Pacific Islands. We maintain an army of occupation in Japan, and another huge army is ranged along the truce line in Korea. In addition we are extending loans, economic aid and Point Four assistance in India, Pakistan, Nepal, Afghanistan, Indonesia and Arabia.

Our federal budget for 1954 included $800,000,000, exclusive of military-end items, programmed for Indochina. The budget for 1955 asks for $712,000,000 exclusive of military-end items. We have given and will continue to give technical assistance through the Foreign Operations Administration on repair and improvement of roads, airports, seaports, seed and crop improvement and other assistance.

We are the biggest importer of raw natural rubber from Indochina, importing some 72,000 metric tons last fiscal year. Already teams of F.O.A. technical experts are in Indochina making a reappraisal for Point Four and economic assistance needs in the remaining free areas. There are those in the isolationist group in Congress who declare, as they have on all the economic aid programs, that this poured money is just being poured down a drain. In this case, money going to Indochina is also a support for the whole budgetary position of the French nation which includes the French commitments to NATO in Europe. Without this help in Indochina, France could not have met her commitments to support NATO which this country considers vital to the buttressing of the entire western world against Communist Russian imperialism in Europe.

So aside from the human element these are some of the stakes the American people have in Indochina. Up to this day it has not been the American way to desert an ally nor a weak nation seeking its own liberty as Indochina.

There is clear evidence that as a result of the uneasy Korean truce, Russia and the CP were able to divert huge quantities of munitions and the materials of modern warfare to the Indochinese front. And both nations furnished some manpower at the division level in experienced officers. While there is no open proof any Chinese army was used in the invasion of Laos, or in the fighting in north Vietnam, there is plenty of evidence that the cease-fire in Korea permitted the Reds to step up their aggression and support of Ho Chi Minh with powerful artillery, tanks and ammunition.

It also must be admitted that French failures in Indochina were not only military, but political as well. Some Far East experts believe that only a miracle can save Laos and Cambodia from being swallowed up without much trouble. The guarantees of their security and independence were so weakened in the final Geneva agreement they probably cannot be saved from Communist penetration without open intervention.

That's the Indochina-Far East stake. If the American people support Secretary Dulles in his firm, resolute policy there's the chance the Reds may back down, and communist aggression may be halted in its tracks. That's the best that could happen. The worst would mean world war III. . . An atomic-hydrogen bomb war.

If we back down and further appease the power-hungry Reds, it could mean the loss of all for which we fought in the Pacific . . . the Philippines, for instance. Japan and Korea would become other Red satellites behind the Iron curtain and the U. S. perimeter of defense would be withdrawn eastward in the Pacific.

The question is, do we have the leadership for such resoluteness now, and will the American people back up that leadership?
